Calendar no. 513, file no. 608. House Bill No. 4537.

An Act concerning Succession Upon Death of a Husband. Favorable report of the Joint Committee on Judiciary and Governmental Functions.

MR. BOYD (WESTPORT):

Mr. Speaker, I move acceptance of the Committee's Favorable Report and passage of the bill.

MR. SPEAKER:

Question is on acceptance and passage. Will you remark?

MR. BOYD (WESTPORT):

Mr. Speaker, this bill is designed to ammend the statutes concerning the surviving spouses rights in the estate of the deceased spouse and it would simple add to the existing statute that the surviving spouse or the conservatore or the guardian of the estate of such surviving spouse with the approval of the probate court after a due hearing may make the election against the will of the surviving spouse would have if competent. It is a good bill and it ought to pass.

MR. BARNES (MONTVILLE):

Mr. Speaker, I think this is all right. I have been a judge of probate and I hope it has been proved out by the probate assembly - is that right may I ask you?

MR. BOYD (WESTPORT):

I am happy to respond that it was requested by the probate assembly.

MR. BOYD (WESTPORT):

Mr. Speaker, This is the Judiciary Committees salute to the governor of the State to give him the opportunity of making a proclamation on Independence Day. At the present time all that he is permitted to do is issue a public statement and we think it is quite fitting and proper that he be given the authority to issue a proclamation concerning our Independence Day. I move the passage of the bill.

MR. SPEAKER:

Will you remark further? All those in favor of the bill say Aye. Those opposed Nay. The bill is passed.

SENATOR FALSEY: the practice of asphyxiation.

Mr. President, the title of this bill is probably the greatest misnomer of the session. What the bill actually does is allows the conservator of the surviving spouse or a guardian as the case may be to make his or her elections against the
